This House is now in a position to offer such WONDERFUL BARGAINS in SILKS and DRESS GOODS as will PLEASE THE PEOPLE and WORRY TO DISTRACTION all who have SILKS OR DRESS GOODS TO SELL.

D. CRAWFORD & CO. will not ask the public to Buy a Single Yard of their Goods if they can not have them over all competition all the way from 25 to 75 per cent. The above is no idle, meaningless speech—of which copious samples from others may be found spread any evening all over these columns—but facts spoken in plain earnest of what they (D. Crawford & Co.) know to be true.

D. CRAWFORD & Co. never make assertions that they can not back up with proof and when they say that they are well acquainted with the stocks in Silks and Dress Goods held (not being sold) by would-be competitors, and with the prices asked for them, the public had better believe it. Notice as follows a sample of the offerings for THIS WEEK:

THE FOREIGN BUDGET.

The Irish Crisis Coming to a Head.

Intense Excitement Over the Boycott Farm Affair.

How a Siege Was Raised in Marseilles.

Ireland.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LONDON, November 9.—The excitement in Ireland grows more intense, finding every day some fresh utterance of an inflammatory nature from the agitators, or a threat from the Government, to feed it.

THE GOVERNMENT PROGRAMME.

At Dublin, last night, Mr. Foster, Chief Secretary for Ireland, told the press that the Government would protect the men saving the harvest of Boycott, who was lately evicted, and would take measures to repress any further illegal acts. Recognizing the difficulty of carrying out this repressive policy without plenty of bayonets to back it, the Government has sent a large force to Ballinrose, at which point the agitation seems to have concentrated for the moment.

THE BOYCOTT ROW.

The Boycott relief expedition has been suspended for a few days, the railway company declining to supply a special train unless they were assured protection. They feared the train would be wrecked. The Government was willing to give an escort of twenty men only. Intense excitement throughout Ireland over the report that 500 armed men have started for Mayo to collect Mr. Boycott's rents and gather the crops.

A COLLISION PROBABLE.

DUBLIN, November 9.—Four troops of Hussars were dispatched hence for Ballinrobe by special trains at 2 o'clock this morning. Four hundred infantry have just arrived at Ballinrobe, and will encamp near Lough Mask. The precautions are taken in view of the intention of Northern Orangemen to send 150 rioters to harvest the crops of Mr. Boycott, Lord Erne's agent, for whom the local peasantry, at the instigation of the Land League, refused to work. The Government will protect a moderate force of laborers, but refuse to permit anything approaching an armed demonstration, which would certainly provoke a collision. The report is current this afternoon that the Channel Squadron is to be prepared to land a brigade of 2,500 troops at Queenstown if ordered to do so.

England.

LONDON, November 9.—D. R. Charles, of Barrow, has failed. Liabilities £60,000. Several Liverpool firms somewhat involved.

THE COMING RACE.

LONDON, November 9.—All the scullers were out yesterday and worked hard. Riley apparently wants to rest. There is considerable betting on the coming championship race. £1,100 to £800 has been laid on Hanlan against Trickett, and £50 to £40 was bet on Hanlan ten times.

BULLION.

LONDON, November 9.—Bullion withdrawn from the Bank of England on balance to-day, £100,000.

MAYOR OF LIVERPOOL.

LIVERPOOL, November 9.—Wm. Forwood, of the firm of Leach, Harrison & Forwood, has been elected Mayor of Liverpool.

France.

PARIS, November 9.—The siege of the Abbey of the Premontre Fathers at Marseilles has been raised by the monks neglecting to guard the door through which they communicated with friends without. The monks left the Abbey with many friends.

THE DE CISSEY SCANDAL.

The advance and extreme Left in the Chamber of Deputies have approved the proposal of Laisant for the report of the committee of investigation into the General De Cissey affair, to be submitted to the Chamber, which meets to-day.

A TUNNEL THROUGH THE SIMPLON.

PARIS, November 9.—It is announced that the members of the Chamber of Deputies of the Departmen t of Seine et Oise will propose a grant of 50,000,000 francs for the construction of a tunnel through the Simplon Mountain. It is said M. Gambetta, president of the Chamber, suggested the proposal.

THE CHAMBERS.

PARIS, November 9.—The French Chambers re-assembled to day. A Ministerial declaration was read, stating that the change in Ministry during recess involved no change in the policy of the Government which is sanctioned by the Chambers.

Germany.

PERLIN, November 7.—The statement of the Imperial Bank of Germany shows a decrease in specie of 1,120,000 marks.

THE RATE OF DISCOUNT.

BERLIN, November 9.—The Imperial Bank of Germany has reduced its rate of discount from 4½ to 4 per cent. Bar silver 51½d per ounce.

IN EXITU ISRAEL.

BERLIN, November 9.—Three thousand Jews have left Roumania for America, by way of Bremen.

Greece.

ATHENS, November 9.—The death is announced of Zamis, the Greek statesman, who was many times President of the Council. His death was sudden.

India.

Spain.

The East.

BUCHAREST, November 9.—The Volga is frozen and many grain-laden vessels are caught in the ice. The harvest has been so short that the detention of vessels will be seriously felt. The early approach of winter has also prevented the completion of sowing in South Russia.

CONSTANTINOPLE, November 9.—The Porte has called out 300,000 redifs and dispatched reinforcements to Salonica and Valo.

A GHASTLY FIND.

Chicago Furnisher Another Murdered Woman Dead in a Closet.

CHICAGO, November 9.—Early this morning, in a small closet of a lodging house on State street, the badly decomposed body of a woman was found. The body was almost naked and the head and face were battered beyond recognition. The closet floor was clotted with blood. The body was discovered by two girls who rented the room last night. Its last occupant was a notorious woman named Eva Lloyd. The woman who rents the rooms claims to know nothing of the murder, and at present writing there is no clue.

CHICAGO, November 9.—The body has been identified as that of Dora Clarence, a woman of the town, and Eva Lloyd, who last occupied the room with her, has been discovered serving out a term in Bridewell and brought to town for examination before a magistrate.

Another Account.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, November 9.—A ghastly discovery, consisting in the finding of the decomposed remains of a woman, was made last night at 306 State street. The building was occupied principally by dissolute characters. The remains were found in the closet adjoining a room until recently occupied by one Eva Lloyd and an unknown companion. The door of the closet had been securely locked. When the Lloyd woman and her companion moved into the room it was noticed by other occupants of the house that they quarreled and fought most of the time. A day or two ago the Lloyd woman left the house, but nothing was seen of the other. This was not considered strange at the time. The room was cleaned preparatory to re-renting, but a powerful and disagreeable odor was noticed and commented upon by the scrub woman. The new occupants of the room, two girls, named Maggie Harris and Katie Doyle, endeavored to locate the stench, and in their efforts to do so burst open the closet door, with results as stated. The body was identified as Eva Lloyd's companion, and it is presumed the former is the murderess. She has not yet been found. Mrs. Hayes, the proprietress of the building, and with three boarders were arrested. Everything in the unfortunate woman's room is bespattered with blood and bears evidence of a terrible conflict, though evidently an attempt had been made to wipe out the stains of the fatal struggle.

THE BODY IDENTIFIED.

The body has been identified as that of Dora Clarence. Her home is said to be in Bloomington, Ill. The supposed murderess has been found in the Bridewell.

THE VERY LATEST.

The woman Eva Lloyd, whose real name is Annie Hanley, was brought in from the Bridewell this afternoon and confessed the crime of which she was suspected. She said she was drunk when the quarrel began, and did not know until next morning that she had killed her roommate. She then fortified herself with liberal libations of whisky and put the corpse in the closet. Leaving the house, she walked the streets until arrested and sent to the Bridewell.

ALLEGED FRAUDS

An Investigation to be Had in New York and Brooklyn.

NEW YORK, November 9.—The following circular letter, signed by William A. Fowler, Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Democratic State Committee, was issued yesterday:

"The reports of frauds in the elections held in this city and Brooklyn on the 2d of November are such that if the frauds reported are established, the electoral vote of this State will be cast for Hancock and English, and steps for a thorough investigation are now being considered. Meantime we hand herewith a blank form of the protest, which you will please execute, varied in substance according to the circumstances, and hand in to the county canvassers as early this week as possible, not later than Thursday, the 11th inst."

The form of the protest is as follows:

"The undersigned hereby protest against the allowance of the vote cast for Presidential electors at the election held November 2, 1880, in [name of place], as canvassed and returned by the Board of County Canvassers of said county, for the reason [state facts in detail]. We would respectfully request that this protest may be attached to the return of such vote that we may not be considered to have by silence acquiesced in those acts."

THE CALIFORNIA ELECTION.

Hancock Carries the State by a Clear Plurality.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 9.—The Boards of Supervisors have all been at work since yesterday counting the vote cast. From changes made at this present writing it is quite positive that at least five out of the six electoral votes of the State will go for Hancock. This the Republican State Committee concede today, and they admit the strong probability that all six of the electoral votes will be cast for the Democratic nominee. The Republicans claim the Legislature, however, which has acquired a special importance this year, as the incoming assembly will redistrict the State under the new Constitution and a splendid opportunity for a large gerrymander will be afforded.

Pacheco Elected.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 9.—Official returns from all counties in the Fourth Congressional District except Tulare, Mariposa and Inyo, which are full but not official, give Pacheco 153 majority. Official returns will make no material changes, and his election is settled.

Later.

THE OFFICIAL COUNT.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 9.—The official count of the State gives net gain for Hancock of 222. His present plurality is about 140.

The Latest From California.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 9.—Official returns not all in, but enough received to determine that Hancock electors, except Judge Terry, have carried the State by a majority of two to three hundred, while the Republicans have elected forty one Assemblymen, giving a majority of two in the Assembly and twelve for joint ballot.

A BATAVIA BORGIA.

An Illinoisan Sent Across the River by the Morphine Route.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

BATAVIA, ILL., November 9.—The town and surrounding country is intensely excited over the sudden death and subsequent hasty burial of Munson Winchel, an old and respected citizen of this place. His domestic relations were known to have been extremely unpleasant, as he was living with his second wife, but had once instituted divorce proceedings against her. It is openly charged that his wife is implicated in his death, though she has not yet been arrested. Morphine, which it is proven she purchased, was found on the old man's remains. The coroner's inquest elicited no facts previously unknown, and gave the case to the grand jury. They finished their sitting yesterday, leaving the body, which they had been forced to mutilate, in the wood shed. Last night Mrs. Winchell hired a party of common laborers to box up the body and bury it, which they did, in the dead of the night, dispensing with every semblance of Christian burial.

A Journalistic Collapse.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, November 9.—Judge Jameson, of the Superior Court, has entered a decree in the case of the Rock River Paper Company against the Chicago Publishing Company, which suit was commenced to enforce the liability of the stockholders in the defunct Evening Post, later the Post and Mail, to meet the debts outstanding against the corporation. The decree finds the stockholders, who were principally newspaper men, liable for the amount subscribed, aggregating $140,000. An appeal has been taken by the stockholders to the Appellate Court.

Specie.

NEW YORK, November 9.—Steamer Gallia from Europe brought £90,000 specie.

ROCK-A-BY.

Rock-a-by baby upon the tree top
When the wind blows—contound it, do stop.
When the wind blows the cradle will rock,
Jerusalem crickets, what a temper you've got
When the bough breaks the cradle will fall.
By thunder, you young 'un do nothing but squall.

Now baby go by-by, go hush-l-ty—hush;
Shoo, shoo, shoey, shooy, hush, hush-l-ty—push;
Go to sleepy my baby, my little sweet pet;
Go to sleep, don't you hear me, I'll spank you, I'll bet,
If you ain't asleep this minit, now, now, rock-a-by!
Well! hang such a young one, that does nothin' but cry.

J. J. R.

AN IMPROPER GAME.

How They Played It Low Down on Mr. William Urbach.

From the New York Sun.

Mr. William Urbach, a gaunt German, resembling a Maine lumberman, keeps a restaurant at 82 Beaver street. He is patronized by Custom-house officials and cotton and stock brokers. His stock in trade is good beer, salty pretzels, an urbane manner, and unique and entertaining conversational powers. He never, however, allows his own interests to be overshadowed by the interests of his friends. Not long ago, as he was driving a spigot into a keg of fresh beer, a postman handed him a letter. It bore a Brazilian postmark. Mr. Urbach took Dom Pedro's likeness for the portrait of the Emperor Wilhelm. He stopped hammering at the spigot and tore open the envelope, fancying that he was about to hear news from home. Here is the letter:

NATAL, RIO GRANDE DO NORTE, BRAZIL, August 14.—Friend William: I am prospering in the Brazilian Empire. When I left New York I left an unsettled account with you for beer and similar necessities of life. Please use the inclosed in settlement of the bill. Ask Mike Burns and other friends to join you in three or four rounds of drinks and give all the boys one of your best cigars at my expense.

You will greatly oblige me by depositing the balance of the inclosure to my credit with August Belmont. Yours truly,

ORANGE STEVENS.

The inclosure was a bank note, gorgeous in colors of gold and indigo, bearing an inscription in which these figures were prominent:

: 500 500 500 500 500 Reis Reis Reis Reis :
: 500 500 500 500 REIS Reis Reis Reis Reis :
: 500 500 500 500 500 Reis Reis Reis Reis :

"Dot Shtefens, he vas always a crate fellow," said Mr. Urbach, as he smoothed the bill out on the counter. "Oh, but he done someding always shust like a shentlemans. He vos look like Napoleon as much so Parnum he enkaged him mit his elephants and oder dinks in his show. My kracious, vot a pig pill. Dot Shtefens he is makin' owit mit a pile of money. Vell, poys, Shtefens he treats all hents. Vot is it?"

A dollar's worth of beer and wine was distributed, and Stevens' health was drunk amid great enthusiasm. Mr. Urbach read the letter a second time, and again caressed the bank note.

"Vell, poys," he said, "dot Shtefens he dreats akin all hents. Vot is it?"

A second and a third dollar's worth of refreshments were distributed. Mr. Urbach then passed around cigars valued at $2, and sent one of his boys over to August Belmont with the note for 500 reis.

"You tole the pank to geff you seex dollars, und take it the pellance as a deposit for Shtefens in Natal," he said. "Now, look out for yourself es you dont lose the pill mit de teeves."

Away flew the boy. He returned in ten minutes with the note in his hand.

"Vot's the matter mit the pill?" Mr. Urbach inquired. "Vy you don't got the change?"

"The cashier says that 500 reis is only forty cents," the boy replied. "He says that there are more than a thousand reis in a dollar."

"Urbach grasped the note and scrutinized it long and closely. "Vell," he gasped, "dot's a kreat show pill for forty cents. Dot Shtefens he vas always a tam scoundrel. Of he vas here he could peat tree-dwendy-nine."

Danger Signals.

From the New York Times.

Each of the brakemen and conductors employed upon the steam railroads is supplied with a lamp, upon which his name is engraved. It is intended to be his companion and to be carried by him, not only on the train, but also to and from his home. It is mounted upon a shining brass base. All the metal work upon it is carefully rubbed, and not a speck of dust is permitted to be on the glass. Brakemen are supplied with red, or danger, lamps, and conductors with white, or starting, lamps. The value of these lamps is rarely appreciated, or even understood, by travelers. Many lives have been saved and many have been lost through them alone. The number of lives that have been endangered by the mishaps of the lamps cannot be estimated. The loss of a red lamp, a missing wick, a wick that will not burn, causes grave alarm in the locomotive cab. A break in a train, the discovery of a blockade, a sudden stop, call for the instant use of the red lamp. If no red lamp is at hand a pot of red paint or a piece of red flannel is used to cover a white one. The flannel is more in use, for it is easy to carry and easily used. A bit of fat can be substituted for an unwilling wick; it burns as well for five minutes. A fast train is easily divided by the breaking of a coupling-pin. The engineer may not be able to run back for the detached cars, and they must, therefore, wait for the next train. If the weather is misty, the absence of a red lamp from the rear one of these cars is a terrible menace to life.

Since the Centennial Exhibition in Philadelphia better railroad lamps are manufactured, and each train is supplied with one, two, three or more, according to its length. Two red lamps are placed on the platform of the last car of the elevated railroad trains from dusk until daylight. No danger need be apprehended in a clear morning or a clear night. Upon a foggy night a collision might almost be expected to follow a break in a train, the red lamps being scarcely perceptible and the trains running closely—if it were not that the distance between the stations is so short, and that the extra precaution is taken of putting a flagman on the rear car. The presence of this flagman is unknown to most passengers. His flag—nothing more than a yard of bright red flannel—is only seen when it is nervously waved in the air as he runs along the track toward an approaching train. And it is a dangerous run in any kind of weather. Engineers and brakemen have many tales of lucky escapes to tell, yet luck is a much smaller factor of safety than is their own remarkable presence of mind. Danger is seen by them and averted in an instant. One moment scores of lives are within the ring of death; the next train is speeding onward with the only disadvantage of being 60 seconds behind the schedule time. One night last summer a Long Island Railroad train, approaching Jamaica on its way to Hunter's Point, "broke," and four cars were left behind. The only lamp on the train—a red one—was in charge of a brakeman, who, in his excitement, let it fall. Only a small bit of red glass remained upon it. A Jamaica train was expected momentarily. The passengers apparently did not understand the cause of the stop, nor were they much interested. The conductor relighted the lamp and nailed it to a pine stick. Holding it aloft with the red glass turned toward the approaching train, he conveyed a warning which prevented a disastrous collision.

Joaquin Miller in Wall Street.

From the Californian.

Wall street? How did I come out? Oh! Well, I was short of St. Paul and long of Pacific Mail. I expected Pacific Mail to go up and St. Paul to go down. They did, and I had $21,000. But that was not enough to build a city with. I held on.

One day it was reported that the rust was not so bad in St. Paul after all. It began to start up! Pacific Mail began to shoot down. It was said the Chinese had started an opposition line. I tell you it takes a big man to sit on two benches at a time. Ten to one he will spill himself between the two just as sure as he attempts it.

I sold some St. Paul and bought more Pacific Mail at the lowest figure it touched, and bought Wabash. I began to flounder, and got frightened. I sold and bought, bought and sold. I frequently saw in the prpers that I was getting rich in Wall street, and kept on working like a beaver. The end was only a question of time.

One day my broker took me by the sleeve and led me aside like a lamb as I was. My fun was over, and Utopia was indeed Utopia.

No one with so little money ever entered Wall street under better advantages. All men were kind and good. I think no man there ever attempted to mislead me. But it is simply impossible to make money there and keep it. Let me mention here that during my six months there I paid my brokers in commissions eleven thousand four hundred and twenty-five dollars! These commissions alone will devour any possible profits.

Of course it is not a pleasant thing to admit oneself beaten. But if this brief history of my venture in this dangerous land will diminish at all that tired and anxious army of rope-holders who waste their shekels, their days and their strength in vain waiting—why, I willingly bear the reproach.

And, after all, I lost but little, having but little to lose. And I learned so much, having so much to learn.

Fishing Through the Ice.

From the Nineteenth Century.

The proper way is to chop a square hole, taking pains to cut down very evenly. The improper way is to do as I did the first time—cut carelessly, get down deeper on one side of the square than on the other, suddenly strike the axe through, and get the hole full of water, while yet there are several inches of ice to be cut through. If any one will try chopping ice in a hole two feet deep and full of water, he will discover that the splashing, though graceful to look at, is not comfortable to feel in cold weather. Fishing through the ice is chilly and depressing work. I mean such fishing as I am thinking of when you are exposed to all the keen airs of heaven, a solitary, shivering mortal out all alone in the wilderness. Of course, if two young persons go out fishing for tommy cods, as they occasionally do on the St. Lawrence, through a hole in the ice, with a nice little hut built over it, and a nice little stove inside, why, things are quite different. I can not say that fishing through the ice under ordinary circumstances is very exciting sport; but there is something comical about it, and it affords a certain amount of innocent enjoyment. When I rejoined my pals that evening, I could not forbear laughing at the peculiar appearance of the winter trout fishers as represented by a staid, respectable member of society, who looked as if he ought to be engaged in some learned or scientific pursuit, or dressed in good broadcloth, and poring over his books in some well-filled library. His costume was remarkable. His feet were protected by voluminous moccasins, stuffed with many woolen socks: his legs encased in dingy and somewhat greasy corduroys; his body in an ancient, blood-stained, weather-beaten jacket, with two or three pieces of old sacking or gunny bags hung on the shoulders and strapped round the waist, to keep off the wind: an ordinary deer-stalking cap, with pieces filched from a buffalo robe sewn on the ear-flaps, pulled over the brows and tied under the chin, and a long and tattered woolen muffler wound round and round the neck allowed little of the fisherman's face to be seen except a nose, purple with cold, from which hung a little icicle, and a pair of eyes gazing intently at the hole in the ice over which he stooped. Patiently he crouched over his fishing hole, occasionally stirring up the water to keep it from freezing, holding in his hand a fishing rod in the shape of a stick about a foot long, from which depended a piece of thick twine attached to a hook armed with the eye of a deceased trout as a bait. At intervals he would twitch out a fish, pull him violently off the hook—a man can not employ much delicacy of manipulation when his hands are encased in thick fingerless mittens—and throw him on a heap of his forerunners in misfortune, where he speedily froze solid in the very act of protesting by vigorous contortions against his cruel fate. We caught, I should be ashamed to say how many dozen trout on that occasion. I know we had the best part of a sack full, but as to the exact size of the sack I propose to retain a strict reserve, lest I should be accused of taking a mean advantage of that noble little fish, the trout.

A Lady's Kind Care for a Stranger.

From the Elmira Advertiser, November 5.

The late Mrs. E. H. Cook, whose funeral took place yesterday in Trinity Church, had been for a long time at the Prospect House on the Upper Saranac. She died there last Sunday. The summer visitors had all gone to their homes, and Mrs. Cook was comparatively alone with her daughter. When the end came suddenly, news reached a wealthy lady of New York City, who was staying there with her invalid child, that a lady had died at Upper Saranac with no one with her but her young daughter. She ordered her carriage, and, although a perfect stranger to the parties, took charge of all necessary arrangements. The place is seventeen miles from a post-office or telegraph station. There was no way to get word to friends, and few facilities for arranging the body for transportation, but with the meagre means at hand, the lady prepared the remains, attending personally to everything, even to procuring conveyances to take them to the railroad station, many miles distant, and she accompanied the afflicted daughter to Elmira.

THE IDEAL.

I think the song that's sweetest
Is the song that's never sung;
That lies at the heart of the singer
Too grand for mortal tongue.
And sometimes in the silence
Between the day and night.
He fancies that its measures
Bid farewell to the light.

A fairy band from dreamland
Beckons us here and there,
And as we strive to clasp it,
It vanishes into air.
And thus our fair ideal
Floats away just before,
And we with longing spirits
Reach for it evermore.

The Next World's Fair.

From the New York Herald.

Among the propositions that have been submitted to the Committee on Sites in regard to the location of the Exhibition buildings for the next World's Fair is one which is regarded by several of the Commissioners with no small degree of favor, and although up to the present time no decided action has been taken officially, yet it is declared extra-officially that it is not unlikely that an effort will be made to act on the proposal. This is that the Central Park, or a portion of it, be taken as the site of the fair to be held in 1883. It is realized that there will be a decided opposition to any steps that may be taken in this direction, and for this reason the committee have taken pains to keep the proposition quiet until such time as they shall be ready to act.

There is no doubt that if the use of Central Park or as much of it as can be utilized can be secured for the purpose it would be greatly to the advantage of the Commission, and that the pecuniary profits to be derived from the holding of the fair would be greatly enhanced by the possession of such a site, free of cost (for it is not proposed that the city shall lease the park, but that it shall give the use of it for the three years desired).

There is a side to this question which, although the committee of the International Commission cannot be expected to take it into consideration, is of much more importance to the public. Outside of the committee it has been discussed by gentlemen interested in municipal affairs as well as in the success of the world's fair. It has been said that damage will be done to Central Park if the fair is held there, which will be entirely out of proportion to the puotic benefits to be derived from the fair itself. It is argued that if there was no other site to be obtained it would be well worth while to give the use of a part of the park to the commission rather than to have no fair, but that since it is merely a question of the selection of the best site among a dozen offered, it would be the height of folly to devote to such uses as the commission contemplates a park which has cost the city so many millions of dollars, and which, once ruined, would be an irrevocable loss. Such ground as would be selected would be not simply subtracted from the area of park ground now used, but would be devoted to such uses as would make the rest of the park less attractive. The presence of machinery and all the heavy works which are inseparable from the exhibition, would, it is said, be utterly incongruous with the use of the park as a pleasure ground.

The law governing the International Commission says that they shall not enter upon any public park of New York City excepting by permission of the Park Commissioners. They may erect permanent buildings in such parks under restrictions to be imposed by the Park Commissioners. It is thus apparent that by skillful maneuvering an arrangement might be made to secure the use of the park. Whether such a scheme will be presented in a shape that will command public approval or not remains to be seen.

Getting the Facts.

From the New York Star.

Most of the daily newspapers were compelled to engage extra reporters on election night. A young man, with his hair and name parted amidships, walked into the Star office on the afternoon of Tuesday. "He wanted something to do. He could do anything. Interviewing was his forte."

The editor happened to be absent at the time, and the office-boy, who is quite large for his size and quite fresh for his age, gave the young man a detail.

"I'm the assistant city editor's representative," said the young man, "and to-morrow morning we intend to publish the names of all the Presidents from Washington down and up, with the members of their families' ages and places of residence."

"Yes, sir."

"In addition, we want to get at their religion, and, if possible, what church they belonged to. If any of them were ever arrested we want the fact noted. Also if they ever ran with any engine."

The new comer started out, and had got as far as the door when he was called back.

"There is a rumor afloat that Andrew Jackson is still alive and that Garfield is only being run as a blind. The electoral votes are to be cast for Jackson when the college meets. See Jackson, and give us a good column interview. Make it spicy."

"Hadn't I better hurry?"

"Plenty of time. There is also a rumor that Martin Van Buren is in town and has registered in thirteen districts. If you can confirm this statement your fortune is made. I hardly believe it, but it may be so. Will you hunt it up!"

"Yessir."

"You might go to all the hotels in the city and hunt through the registers and then drop over into Westchester and see how the vote is going there. If pressed for time don't fail to hire a hack or an elevated railroad train."

"Is that all?"

"Yes."

At midnight a weird, emaciated young man came in and asked for the assistant city editor's representative. He was led through the different rooms, but the man he sought was not there. He told his story. He had ascertained that Jackson and Van Buren had not been in the city for many years. He promised to call on the morrow and continue his hunt for the man that had given him his assignment.

As he departed the office boy came from under a desk and said that he'd been hunting for his hat. He had a lying look in his eye. He is now enjoying a ten years' vacation.

A Half Cent's Worth of Bliss for Two.

From the Reading (Pa.) Eagle.

Rev. A. S. Leinbach, of Reading, received a note from Sinking Spring a few days ago, requesting him to be ready to marry a couple at his residence on a certain day. The clergyman was waiting on the day appointed, but the couple did not appear and he supposed they had changed their minds. The next day, however, while he was absent from home and the ladies of his household were busied with their domestic duties, the door-bell was rung and on the steps stood the couple from the country. The girl was quite young, but the man was considerably older. They said the rain had kept them at home on the day appointed, but they desired to be married at once. They were invited in and Rev. Mr. Leinbach was searched for at the Post-office and elsewhere, without success. Another minister from the country, however, was met by the messenger, and requested to perform the ceremony. He went to Rev. Leinbach's house, two ladies of the family were called as witnesses and the nuptial knot was tied. After receiving a handsome marriage certificate the couple took their leave, and at the moment of departure the groom put into the hands of the officiating clergyman something rolled up in a white paper. They then departed in such haste as to excite surprise. The package was opened and roll after roll of paper removed, until at last the marriage fee was found—an old-fashioned copper half-cent of 1832.

Mr. Emerson's Memory.

From the New Bedford Mercury.

One evening, when Ralph Waldo Emerson was engaged in preparing his new lecture, Mrs. Emerson, who had that moment flattened her finger while trying to drive a nail with the smoothing-iron, thrust her head into his study, and said:

"See here, sir! I want you to drop that everlasting pen of yours for a minute or two at least, and go down to the grocery and get a mackerel for breakfast."

"My dear," replied Mr. Emerson, looking up from his work, "my dear, can't you go? You see I'm billed in a dozen places to deliver this lecture on 'Memory,' and it isn't half finished yet."

"And that's what you call your infernal lecture, is it?" said Mrs. Emerson, sharply. "A nice party you are to deliver a lecture on 'Memory,'"

"And why not, my love!" said Mr. Emerson, meekly.

"You never go out of the house that you don't forget to put on your hat or boots, and you never take a letter of mine to mail that you don't carry it in your pocket for six months or a year, unless I happen to find it sooner. During the past thirty days you have carried out of this house and forgot to bring back no less than seventy-five or eighty umbrellas; and you know yourself the last time you went to church you took out your false teeth, because, as you said, they hurt your corns, and came away and left them in the seat. I say you are a nice man to talk to a cultured audience on 'Memory,' and if you don't trot right off to the grocery I'll expose you before you're twenty-four hours older."

Mr. Emerson started on a jump for the grocery, and when he got there he couldn't for the life of him recollect what he had come for.

An Awful Revenge.

From the Alta California.

An awful case of the consequence of refusing a young man's honorable love is reported on the West Side. A really nice young man fell in love with a handsome girl, the only daughter of a handsome and well-preserved widow of thirty-eight, and offered her marriage. She ridiculed him because he was twenty-six, and said he was old enough to be her father, and so on, and with her taunts goaded him to such a pitch of frenzy that he swore he would be fearfully revenged. Accordingly he proposed to and married the wretched girl's mother. Now that wretched girl has to wear stout leather boots two sizes two large for her, and go to bed at 9 p. m., and eschew the theater, chocolate caramels, ice cream and, in fact, everything else that makes life worth living for, her step-father's nominal object being that when she grows up she may be as splendidly-matured a woman as her mother, the compliment implied in this inducing the mother to second him enthusiastically. When a young man comes round to see that wretched girl her step-father bounces him down the front steps, throws his hat after him, and tells the wretched girl that the young man is not a fit companion for her and that he is as solicitous for her future as he would be for that of his own child, and altogether, in the kindest manner possible, he makes that wretched girl even wish she were dead as many as a hundred times a day. Let all other beautiful girls who are tempted to refuse the matrimonial offers of eligible young men be warned by her unhappy fate.

A Fish Story.

From the Sea World.

As a gentleman was fishing in the mill-dam below Winchester, Va., he accidentally threw his line across a strong white duck, which suddenly turned round, twisted the line around her own neck and fixed the hook of the dropper-fly in her breast. Thus entangled and hooked, she soon broke off the line above the dropper, and sailed down the stream with the end of the fly trailing behind her. She had not proceeded far before a trout of about a pound and a half took the fly effectually. Then began a struggle as extraordinary as ever was witnessed—a duck at the dropper and a large trout at the end of the fly. Whenever the trout exerted itself the terror of the duck was very conspicuous; it fluttered its wings and dragged the fish. When the trout was more quiet the duck evidently gave way and suffered herself to be drawn under some bushes, where the shortness of the line did not allow the trout to shelter herself. The duck's head was frequently drawn under the water. By chance, however, the line got across a branch which hung downward into the water, and the duck, taking advantage of the purchase which this gave her, dragged her opponent from his hole and obliged him to show his head above water. Then it became a contest of life and death. The trout was in its last agonies and the duck in a very weak state when the line broke and suffered each to depart its own way.

Talismans.

The Empress of Austria introduced the fashion of wearing the tiny golden pig, it being considered good luck in Austria to run across a pig. A prettier charm or amulet has been worn of late in the shape of some symbol of one's taste or profession, an artist wearing a small golden palette, with rubies, emeralds, sapphires, and pearls for the paints, like one given Mlle. Jacquemart by M. Thiers some time since. Sarah Bernhardt has worn thus a tiny gold mask, Madame Viardot a jeweled lyre, and Elise, the circus-rider, a golden whip. The latest caprice of this kind is the lamb of the Order of the Golden Fleece, which is reputed to bring good fortune to the wearer.

GENERAL.

The Emperor Napoleon spent the night after Sedan in reading a novel. It was "The Last of the Barons."

Gen. Thomas Ewing, who has been traveling for his health in the West, was suddenly seized with malarial fever at Columbus last week, and now is lying dangerously ill there.

"Prisoner at the bar," said the Judge, "is there anything you wish to say before sentence is passed upon you?" The prisoner looked wistfully toward the door, and remarked that he would like to say good evening, if it would be agreeable to the company.

It is a noticeable fact that a large number of women of genius have in our own time seen fit to marry men many years younger than themselves, prominent among them being Marian Evans, Miss Thackeray, Rose Terry, Grace Greenwood and Dinah Mulock.

Col. Mapleson says that he has brought forward sixty American singers, who have all attained a satisfactory degree of prominence; that he had eleven at Her Majesty's Theater among his principal artists last season, and that whenever he tries voices in Europe he finds nearly all the best belong to Americans.

Victor Hugo says that in his opinion his best work is "Les Chatiments," because it has punished one crime and will prevent its recurrence. The venerable author is in good health, and in his evening dress, with his white silk handkerchief loosely arranged around his neck instead of a tie, and his white hair and beard glistening about his fine face, he is a very handsome and picturesque old gentleman.

The Empress Eugenie has decided to leave Chiselhurst, and has purchased Farnborough Hill—a charming estate near the confines of Surray and Hants, with a handsome and spacious mansion in the Italian style. It is in the neighborhood of the South Camp, where her son learned his lessons in the game of war. Eversley, where Canon Kingsley preached, Stathfieldsave, belonging to the Duke of Wellington, and Bagshot Park, the seat of the Duke of Connaught, are all quite near, and it is connected by rail with Windsor.

One of the most efficient and wide-awake clocks in the country is in the possession of Darius L. Goff, of Providence, R. I. It is nearly 200 years old, but has been improved from time to time so as to keep pace with the march of modern ideas. Occupying a position in the front hall of the house, it regulates the entire household. The front door, as it is opened and shut during the day, performs the work of winding. Within the dial is an ingenious mechanism by which the light in the front hall is turned up as darkness comes on, and again is lowered at the orthodox bedtime. At dawn, when it is time for the servants to bestir themselves, the clock rings a bell in the back hall summoning them to work. An hour later a bell in the front hall warns the family that it is time to rise, and, half an hour later, the peal of the bell summons them to breakfast. Besides these arrangements the clock is connected with another in Mr. Goff's sleeping-room, whereby the two are struck simultaneously.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pope's.

"Hazel Kirke's" initial presentation here met with the ovation it deserves, and its fame, heralded by the unprecedented run at the Madison Square Theater, New York, will surely lose none of its luster during the engagement here. The house was crowded in every nook and corner, and seats were something, hundreds never dreamed of, or cared for. The interest excited by the play is sufficient to distract the attention from the momentary inconvenience of standing. "Hazel Kirke," undoubtedly, is worthy of the praise bestowed upon it and the success it has achieved. The play is permeated in all its parts with a semblance of genuineness so like the real that the audience, even the least sentimental, occasionally imagine themselves looking upon and listening to real occurrences. Miss Effie Ellsler portrays the character of Hazel Kirke in a manner as near perfect as can be reached. The trials and sufferings of the poor girl are given all the strength and pathos of which they are capable. Mr. C. W. Couldock as Dunstan Kirke is fully equal to his part, and gives it admirably. The other members of the company are very good, and the whole is made splendid by the magnificence of the scenery, furnished especially for the piece by Manager Pope.

Grand Opera-House.

The Pullman Palace Car Tourists Company, enlarged and strengthened in many material points, were greeted last evening upon the occasion of their first appearance this season by a large and delighted audience. Every member of the company is an artist, and throughout the entire entertainment the audience is kept in rapt attention, and is constantly on the qui vive for some new and excessively humorous incident. Manager Smith has added several new attractions to the organization, and if "The Tourists" were excellent last season, they are superb now with the admirable new features in their musical and mirthful pot pourri and the additional artists engaged.

Olympic.

Frank Mayo at the Olympic is holding his own and better against the attractions at other places. Mr. Mayo comes as near to a correct conception and impersonation of Vandyke Vernon as the creator of the character could possibly desire. Good houses will doubtless be the rule at the Olympic during Mayo's engagement.

Theatre Comique.

"Our Girls," with Miss Marian Mordaunt in the leading roles, and the fine olio that precedes the drama, make up a good evening's amusement. The Theatre Comique is well patronized this week.

THE CENSUS.

Revised Instructions Issued to the Enumerators—One District Already Finished.

Prof. Woodward, Census Supervisor, is a comparatively happy man to-day. He has been for the past two weeks almost crazed with talking to applicants for position. Late last night he received the following revised instructions from Washington City:

"WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 7, 1880.

C. M. Woodward, Supervisor of Census, St. Louis, Mo.:

Each enumerator will register all persons now living in his own subdivision who were, on June 1, 1880, properly residents of the city of St. Louis."

In accordance with the above decision, enumerators will not ask the people of their district whether they have changed their residence since June 1, 1880, but they must ask, "Were you residents of St. Louis on the 1st of June?" or, "Was St. Louis your home on the 1st of June, 1880?"

Again, enumerators will make no inquiries as to removals from one family to another, and from one district to another since June 1 (as suggested in my circular); but they must be very particular to ask, "Has any member of this family or household left the city since June 1, 1880?" and "Has any person or family removed from the city from this neighborhood since June 1, 1880?"

In all cases of removal from the city, the names of the person so removed should be entered with those in the district from which such final removal was made.

If enumerators learn of persons who since the 1st of June have removed directly from the city from other districts than their own, they will confer a favor by at once reporting such facts to this office, with residences, full names, ages, etc., as full as possible.

Enumerators whose districts include hotels, boarding houses, convents, public institutions, etc., should immediately call at such places and explain this change from the printed instructions and the slight changes which it renders necessary in my circulars, which were prepared in harmony with the original instructions sent from Washington.

C. M. WOODWARD, Superior.

One enumerator yesterday completed the work in his district. This was Charles M. Newcomb, who was assigned to a southern ward. Mr. G. Bauer, who is a wealthy resident, and who undertook his district simply from patriotic motives, also very nearly finished his district yesterday. The average number listed by enumerators yesterday was in the neighborhood of 200. Two enumerators were decided by Professor Woodward to-day to be thoroughly incompetent. Their reports made Saturday night were illegible and altogether unsatisfactory.

Queer Quills.

From the New York World.

One strange discovery of the recent deep sea dredging off Rhode Island was a worm inhabiting a quill like a goose quill. The quills were about a foot long, and soon after being taken out of the water grew so hard that they could be and were used for pens. They stood up in the mud at the bottom of the sea. The worms inside were opal colored, and when taken out of their strange tenements glistened and presented a rather pretty appearance, so far as color was concerned. They were raked up by thousands, and none of the scientific men ever heard of them before.

How Gold Makes Wealth.

Gold costs more labor to extract it than it can be exchanged for, and yet its discovery in any country is the surest means of that country's sudden enrichment. This comes from the fact that it attracts population with an irresistible force, and in this way develops every form of industry. Thus, the British colony of Victoria, in which gold was discovered about 1854, had, in 1850, a population of 76,000, exported 18,091,297 pounds of wool, and had 52,341 acres of land under cultivation. In 1855, with a gold product of 2,793,065 ounces, it exported 22,584,234 pounds of wool, and tilled 115,135 acres, while its population had increased to 364,324. In 1878 the population was 879,442, the wool exports were 101,869,800 pounds, and there were 1,669,288 acres under cultivation, while the gold product diminished to 775,272 ounces. These figures afford a plain proof that the gold attracted the population and their labors created the wealth. Nothing tends to people the wilderness so rapidly as the discovery of gold or precious stones in it, and when once populated the inhabitants remain and naturally turn their attention from the unproductive pursuit of gold hunting into more certain and more profitable channels.

Curious Epitaphs.

From Chambers' Journal.

Sometimes a pun or play on the name is introduced: such as in the epitaph on John White:

"Here lies John, a shining light,
Whose name, life, actions, all were White."

The following was rather epigrammatic than epitaphic in regard to Rev. John Chester:

"Beneath this spot lies buried
One Chest within another;
The outer chest was all that's good
Who says so of the other?"

William Wilton, buried at Lambeth, certainly did not write the epitaph which bears relation to him:

"Here lyeth W. W.,
Who never more will trouble you, trouble you."

Nor, we may safely assert, did Owen Moore himself pen the following:

"Owen Moore is gone away
Owin' more than he could pay."

More likely to be genuine are those epitaphs which involve a bad bit of logic, syntax, or grammar in their composition. In a graveyard at Montrose is said to be the following:

"Here lyes the bodies of George
Young and all their posterity
For fifty years backwards."

And in Wrexham church-yard as follows:

"Here lies five babies and children dear,
Three at Oswestry, and two here,"

Akin to this logical blundering is:

"Here lies the remains of
Thomas Milsolm, who died in
Philadelphia, March, 1753;
Had he lived he would have
Been buried here."

And another at Nettlebed, in Oxfordshire:

"Here father and mother and sister and I;
We all died within the space of one short year;
We all be buried at Wimble, except I;
And I be buried here."

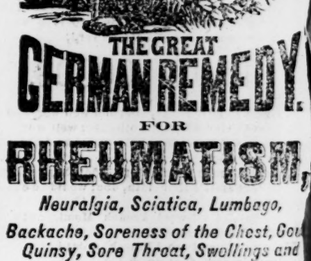

A Preacher's Lonely Death.

From the Troy Times, Nov. 4.

An aged and poorly clad man, who said that he came from Schenectady, arrived in Niskayuna on Tuesday evening, and vainly applied for lodgings at several houses in the village. He finally lay down to sleep in a barn, where he was found in a very weak condition yesterday morning. Some good Samaritans removed him to a hotel and secured him medical attendance. But these kindnesses were too late, for he expired last night, probably from the effects of exposure. From papers found upon his person it is inferred that he was the Rev. J. E. Giles, who had been soliciting subscriptions for the Christian at Work, the Witness, and the Morning and Day of Reform. The Schenectady Union says that Coroner Ouderkirk, who took charge of the remains last night, examined the unfortunate man's clothing, (and there was considerable difficulty in the operation, as he wore almost two entire suits of clothing—two coats and two pairs of pantaloons,) and there were concealed about him nine United States registered 4 1-2 per cent bonds, due in 1891, of the following values: $1,000, $5,000, $500, $100, $50, and four valued at $1,000 each, making in all $19,650; about one dozen little bags of small silver currency, and $225 in bills, a handsome gold hunting-case watch, easily valued at $100, and six solid silver teaspoons. He was apparently about sixty years of age.

Jersey costumes are shown in richer materials than those hitherto described, such as wine-colored silk webbing with satin and silver skirts, and with beaded corsages to wear with very rich dark fabrics.

RIVER NEWS.

SOL. PRICE, of St. Louis, is now mate of the John H. Hanna.

THE E. M. Norton left about noon for New Orleans with six barges of bulk grain.

THE Robert Mitchell's stern has dropped badly. She will be a hard boat to raise.

THE fine Anchor Line packet Annie P. Silver will leave for New Orleans to-morrow evening.

THE Minnesota, Capt. Fi Lee, will leave at 4 this afternoon for Quincy, Keokuk and way landings.

THE City of Greenville will doubtless soon be afloat. She has been aground below Cairo some weeks.

THE Dora, Capt. Lamont, Frank Deane clerk, leaves this afternoon for Clarksville and way landings.

DORA DUNN and Albert Williamson arrived from the Ohio on Sunday morning and will pilot the Wyoming.

CAPT. FRANK BEDARD is back from Cairo. Capt. Rees Dugan has gone down to the sunken Mitchell with the T. F. Eckert.

"RAILROAD LINE" is now the heading of the big four St. Louis and Ohio River Packets, of which H. B. Jenkins is agent.

THE J. B. M. Kehlor is coming with 1,200 barrels rosin, 2,500 sacks salt, 100 tons scrap iron in casks and 100 tons rice, sugar, molasses, empty boxes, etc.

THE Alice is on the falls, waiting for water. Her repairs will cost a great deal. When repaired Captain Charley Adams will assume command and place her in the Pittsburg and St. Louis trade.

THE commodious, light draft steamer Annie, Capt. Ford, Chas. Ebber clerk, leaves for the Upper Mississippi this evening. Loading at the K. N. Line wharf boat. H. Ben. Jenkins, agent.

REPAIRING: Thos. Merse reports as follows: The Fannie Lewis will be off the docks by Saturday. Also the John B. Maude. The Tatum and ferryboat Dr. Hill are on the ways. The Tatum will be let into the water early next week.

JAMES LAMB, of the Paris C. Brown, leaves for Cincinnati to-morrow morning to join his boat, which is about to leave for New Orleans. It is said that the Brown's official family is about, or really, the happiest now afloat on Western rivers. We like to speak of such crews.

CAPT. WM. F. DAVIDSON intended that the fast 300-foot steamer he was building for the St. Paul trade should carry her fuel in the hold, as some fast and fair boats at Cincinnati do. The hull and cabin are pretty well advanced, but work was stopped by the recent perplexity.

N. O. DEMOCRAT: Good evidence of the value of the association in this city of the captains and owners is shown in the fact that out of thirty-eight suits filed against steamboats represented by this association, in the United States District Court, only six have been decided against them. Surely there is strength in unity.

THE fast Upper Mississippi River packet War Eagle was visited by many before her departure for the South last evening, as her fame for speed is great. She is 285 feet long, 41 feet beam and draws 33 inches light. Her burden is 953 tons. She has 64 state-rooms. Her cylinders are 26 inches in diameter, 8 feet stroke, and she has 4 boilers.

THE noble steamer Carrier, Capt. A. C. McConnell, Hartford Brown clerk, will leave for Louisville, Cincinnati and all way landings this evening. She is one of the best boats running on the rivers, and has excellent passenger accommodations. John A. Dales, late of the Alice, is second clerk; John Weon, mate; Hugh Moore and Sam Bostwick, engineers; Alf. Williamson and Wm. Kirkpatrick, pilots.

NEW ORLEANS, 8: Steamer J. M. White, hence for Vicksburg Saturday, bursted the receiving pipe of larboard engine near Black Hawk, 225 miles above the city. Her passengers were transferred to the Natchez and she returned to this city for repairs. The Jesse K. Bell left this evening for Vicksburg in the White's place. The steamer Laura Lee was sold this morning to Cannon & Tobin for $25,500, and will be placed in the Ouachita trade.

A STUNNER came to the wharf yesterday. The most prominent part of her is two big wheel-houses. The hull is iron, 99 feet long, model admirable for speed, no upper deck, low in the water. She draws 18 inches water and is a Government survey boat, commanded by Capt. Fred. Dozier, and will leave on Thursday, having already supplies laid in from Ward & Brady's. She has one chimney, and it is enough. The wheels are iron and light. This steamer will probably make 20 miles an hour in still water, or 15 up the Mississippi. Engines, boilers, coal and crew are all in the hold, except the pilot, who is elevated as usual. She has two engines to each wheel, a unique application well worthy of examination by our engineers and boatmen.

CONDENSED TELEGRAMS.

The Irish Land Leaguers' fund for defense so far seems to be a failure, as only £180 has been subscribed.

Capt. A. H. Bogardus, the champion wing shot of the world, was taken dangerously ill at Streator, Ill., on Saturday night.

The daughter of Mr. Cook, manager of Cook's Excursions, took a fit on Monday, while taking a bath in London, and died.

The Grand Orange Lodge of Ireland has adopted a resolution to combat the Land League agitation by all the means in its power.

Gov. Williams, of Indiana, is seriously ill, and owing to his venerable age may die. He contracted malarial fever while making campaign speeches.

Peter Cavanaugh, engineer for coal train on the Morris and Essex Railroad, at Jersey City, N. J., was instantly killed by the train jumping the track.

The schooner Belle Sheridan, from Oswego for Toronto, went ashore on Sunday at Wellows Bay, and was completely wrecked. Capt. Sherry, his three sons and a sailor were drowned.

The monks expelled from France are flocking in large numbers to Madrid, and the nobles are offering their palaces and town councils are giving them convents and vacant buildings.

Marie Roze appeared on Monday night in the English version of the opera "Aida," in Boston. It was the first time this opera was given in English at the "Hub," and a critical audience received her rendition of it with much enthusiasm.

Wm. A. Fowler, chairman of the New York Democratic State Executive Committee, has issued a letter stating that steps are to be taken to investigate the frauds perpetrated by the Republicans at the recent election in New York and Brooklyn.

Mme. Bernhardt has just made her debut in New York before a fashionable audience of 4,000 persons. It was immensely successful, and among the distinguished people present were Senator Blaine and Gov. Cornell. Clara Morris also occupied a box. The famous actress was serenaded afterwards at her hotel.

THE RAILROAD WAR.

Eastern Rates Cut to Tatters—The Situation To-Day.

St. Louis is now the seat of the best contested railroad war that the country has ever seen. There have been many passenger-rate wars in this section of the country. Rates to New York City have been known to drop as low as fifty cents; but never did so uniform a low rate prevail between St. Louis and Chicago as now. Every road is to-day selling at $1 to Chicago and $2 to Kansas City.

The meeting at Chicago yesterday of managers and several passenger agents had no effect. General Manager John C. Gault, of the Wabash, was expected to be present at this meeting, but illness detained him in St. Louis. Mr. James F. How, vice-president of the road, left last night for Chicago, to be present at an adjourned meeting which will be held this morning. The Chicago and Alton Railroad is to-day making a general cut on Eastern rates. They bulletin Fort Wayne at $2 80, Lafayette, Ind., at $1, Toledo at $1 85, Buffalo at $8 45 (the regular rate here is $18 25), Cleveland at $3 45 and Pittsburg at $8 30. Of course these rates are made over a circuitous route. A passenger has to go to Bloomington and then wait his chances to take an Eastern train on the Lake Erie and Western to Cleveland and Buffalo. General figures to New York, Philadelphia and Boston have not been changed by this new cut. Everything depends upon the Chicago meeting today. If a compromise is not effected then the biggest and the bitterest war that the country has ever seen will be straightway inaugurated. This is the general opinion in railroad circles here.

CALIFORNIA is all right after all. Hancock will have at least five of the six electoral votes of that State.

HANCOCK has California, and is now sure of 155 electoral votes. The vote of New York would not only elect him but give him 190 electoral votes, or five more than enough.

BEECHER and Ingersoll are engaged in the amiable task of scratching each other's backs. What Beecher admires about Ingersoll is his courage and brilliancy, and Ingersoll fairly dotes on the liberality of the Plymouth pastor.

MR. HAYES predicts that the policy of the incoming Administration will be essentially the same as that of the present one. Commissioner Le Duc with his Mexican tea and his Chinese sorgho is, no doubt, chiefly to be credited for the present era of good feeling.

OUR insatiate steel makes many holes in the St. Louis POST-DISPATCH, the only readable Democratic paper west of the Mississippi. —[The Atchison Champion.

Thanks. The trouble about most of the other papers in the Mississippi Valley is that their "insatiate steal" is unaccompanied by any acknowledgment whatever.

THIS has been the closest election ever known in this country. Each party carried the same number of States, the Senate is about a tie, the House nearly the same, the President is only elected by the vote of one State, and in the popular vote there will be a difference of less than 100,000 out of a total of nearly 10,000,000.

THE official figures show that Mr. Drake is only elected by eleven votes. He ran several hundred behind his ticket, and a change of six votes would have beaten him. Mr. Scratch was only called out about two days before the election. If we had thought of it only a day or two before, Mr. Drake would have continued to grace private life. He should feel duly grateful.

WE can heartily endorse every word of this, from the Times:

The defeat of Hon. John F. Phillips is not only a profound surprise to the Democracy of Missouri—it is everywhere regarded as a misfortune. It is loss to the State as well as to the party. Col. Phillips is beyond question one of the ablest men in Missouri. He is a man of pure character, of much experience in public affairs and a true and patriotic Missourian. There is a great fault somewhere that such a man should have been beaten in a district which gives a good Democratic majority to the National ticket.

GARFIELD'S decision to have an entirely new Cabinet seems to be inconsistent with the Republican position during the campaign that a change would be injurious, that the country demanded to "let well enough alone" and was opposed to any change. And now we hear that even Sherman, Schurz and Evarts, who howled themselves hoarse against a change, will be changed out of office by Garfield, and that there will be a "change" all along the line among the big office-holders.

MR. COCKRELL has found a new champion in an unexpected quarter and on rather unexpected grounds. The Globe-Democrat advocates his re-election in this fashion:

The POST-DISPATCH says there is a chance for somebody to become a candidate for the United States Senate against Cockrell. There is not a ghost of a chance. Cockrell will be elected without a contest. Furthermore the Globe-Democrat is anxious to see him elected. The only way to beat the Democratic party in Missouri is to continue to make it and keep it as odious as possible. It will greatly help this good work to send one of the beneficiaries of the Treasury ring to the Senate. We are for Cockrell.

THIS is the modest way in which Chauncey I. Filley eulogizes himself and the "machine" in politics:

The thought suggested itself that we might at least do something to retrieve Congress from the grasp of the rebel Brigadiers. It was evident that it was not possible to do this in an open, hand-to-hand fight. It must be done, if done at all, secretly, silently, by a machine—and the machine did it. [Cheers.] How? By nominating, wherever possible, a Greenback-Republican, who is as good as a Republican on every question but finance—and who cares for finance at this late day, when the Republican financial policy is accepted by both parties? The fight was to beat the Brigadiers, and no victory is so pleasant to me as this, here in Missouri, for Missouri's gain of Congressmen decides the complexion of the House. In June last I sat down with the Secretary of the State Central Committee and figured out that we could possibly elect fifty members of the Legislature. Our organization was better than it had ever been, and through this organization we were able to put in Republicans, or where that was not possible, to honeyfuggle in Republican-Greenbackers.

OUR esteemed contemporary across the street has had a truly happy thought. It seems that the five districts in the interior of the State were not lost by Democratic over-confidence and mismanagement but—because the POST-DISPATCH appealed to Mr. Scratch in this city. Here is what the Times says:

It would be discourteous to say that our contemporary has no circulation or influence in the districts in which the Democratic nominees for Congress were beaten. Is it not responsible then to the extent of its circulation and influence for the defeat that has overtaken these gentlemen and the misfortune of the loss of the lower house of Congress that has befallen the party at large? The principle it advocated was utterly destructive not only of party discipline but of party organization; and while parading its advocacy of such a principle it has no right to blame any one else for what has happened.

Perhaps not. Nor do we blame anybody. We simply state the facts and tell the truth, no matter whom it pleases or displeases. And the truth is that five members of Congress will vote and act with the Republican party who were elected in this State, and who could have been easily defeated. An organization like that in Indiana or Ohio would have brought 10,000 Democrats to the polls who did not vote at all, and if Mr. Griff Prather had simply done his duty there would have been but one Democratic candidate in the Eighth District. As to the POST-DISPATCH' scratch crusade, that was solely confined to municipal candidates, and we especially emphasized the importance of electing the Democratic candidates for Congress.

MISSOURI'S MAJORITY.

The official returns from the following forty-four counties have been received at Jefferson City: Adair, Bollinger, Caldwell, Callaway, Cass, Cape Girardeau, Chariton, Christian, Clark, Clay, Clinton, Cole, Crawford, Daviess, De Kalb, Bent, Franklin, Gentry, Henry, Hickory, Iron, Jasper, Jefferson, Lafayette, Lincoln, Linn, Livingston, Osage, Macon, Madison, Marion, Mississippi, Moniteau, Newton, Phelps, Ralls, Randolph, Scotland, Shelby, Stone, Taney, Vernon and Warren. These counties cast a total vote of 139,298, as against 123,099 four years ago, or an increase of about fifteen per cent. Hancock received 74,814, Garfield 50,456, and Weaver 14,023—as against 72,148 for Tilden, 49,408 for Hayes, and 1,543 for Cooper.

The same rate of increase would make the total vote of the State over 400,000 as against 348,600 in 1876, and indicate a Greenback vote of about 30,000.

The majority for Hancock and Crittenden in Missouri will not be less than 50,000 if these indications can be relied upon. The chances are rather that it may be over 60,000 than under 50,000. For, adding the vote of St. Louis (city and county) to that officially reported, we have nearly one-half of the total vote of the State in from counties in which Republicans made most of their gains, and they give Hancock a plurality of 25,000 over Garfield. The other half of the vote will double this at least, and may make Hancock's plurality 60,000.

SUPPOSE!

A Congress, Democratic in both branches, has to count the electoral votes and declare who has been elected President of the United States.

Four years ago the Republicans established the precedent that Congress could count or reject the electoral returns as it pleases. It thus rejected the honest returns of Louisiana and counted those steeped in perjury, forgery and infamy.

Four years ago the unquestioned majority of Louisiana thus trampled upon by Congress was 8,000 out of a total of 150,000. This was equal to a majority of 64,000 on the total vote of New York.

New York's majority is only about 20,000 out of 1,200,000 votes. Great frauds are alleged. Suppose the Democratic Congress should do precisely what the Republicans did four years ago?

It is a terrible temptation; but we feel sure that the Democratic Congress will not yield to it, and that Garfield will be President—will be so counted in and declared by a Democratic Congress.

But suppose, on the other hand, Congress were Republican, New York had gone Democratic and its vote decided the Presidency in favor of the Democrats. Is there any one who doubts how quickly the Republicans would use their power, reject the Democratic return and count in their own candidates?

SPRINGFIELD, ILL., November 9.—Gov. Cullom has issued his Thanksgiving proclamation, naming November 25th as a day of prayer.

THE PHILP TRIAL.

The Morey Letter Still a Debatable Topic.

A "Walking Detective" on the Witness Stand.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, November 9.—The court opened at 10:30 a. m. Mr. Richardson, a resident of Brooklyn for thirty years, and Frederick Richardson, former Mayor of that city, now State Senator, testified as to McDermott's character that it was fair. Mr. Morey, the next witness, said he had been absent a few days. He went to Lynn to get an affidavit from his stepmother to be sent to the Pension Department, Washington, which gives names and a brief history of the Morey family.

ROBERT LINDSAY,

the next witness, and a detective for a secret organization of workingmen, knew H. L. Morey. Says Morey was connected with the Employers' Union, of Lynn; had a letter of introduction to him; that he had an interview with him; talked to him on the train from Lynn to Lowell. He says the Morey letter is either genuine or a facsimile of one shown by Morey to witness. Describes Morey and says the last time he saw him was in Philadelphia. The witness was in Lynn two years ago; Morey showed him several letters in Boston. Saw Morey last February. Witness says the letter of introduction he showed Morey was forged by a member of the organization and purported to be from the Consolidated Coal Company.

Another Account.

NEW YORK, November 9.—The Morey letter inquiry was resumed to-day. Samuel E. Morey testified that one his brothers was a sleight of hand performer. His name was Francis A. W. Morey. Julian A. Morey was his half-brother. He had another brother named George E. C. Morey, and two sisters, both dead. To Mr. Bliss he said he had not been paid for testimony in this case. Had a nephew. Frank B. Morey told him the Republican Committee of Lawrence County wanted him to go to New York to testify in this case. Witness told him had no objection to going and to telling the truth.

Robert Lindsay, who said he was a detective for a secret organization of workmen of Allegheny county, Maryland, testified that he knew Henry L. Morey, and that last February he traveled with him on the train from Lowell to Lynn, and Morey showed him the Chinese letter between the 4th and 10th of February. He went from Lynn to Boston with Morey and Morey showed him the Chinese letter in Boston and read it to him. The letter in question was identified by witness as either the original letter shown him or a fac-simile of it.

Witness, cross examined by Mr. Bliss, said he first became acquainted with Morey through a letter of introduction purporting to have been written by a certain secret organization, the name of which he refused to make known. This letter of introduction was a forgery. The witness' business was chiefly walking about mines doing nothing. He was recently at Eckhardt mine walking around.

Bliss—Now, is it not a fact that Eckhardt has been flooded for fifteen years, and was only pumped out this spring?

A.—Well, that may be, but it don't prevent me from going in.

Q.—What others are you acquainted with? A.—Well, Borden, Cumberland, Freesburg and others.

Q.—Give us the names of some of the promoters of these mines. A.—I can not; I don't know them.

Q.—What? And you say you have been around these mines for many years? Now, how used you go into these mines. A.—I walked in.

Q.—Didn't mines have shafts. A.—Some have, others not.

Q.—Who employs you? A.—I am employed by the President of the Workingmen's Union.

Q.—What to do? A.—Whatever he asks me to do.

Q.—When did you meet Mr. Morey first? A.—In the fall of 1874.

Q.—That was when you presented your forged letter of introduction to him. A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Did you ever go by the name of Cornell? A.—No, sir; but I know a man of that name.

Witness said he left Cumberland, Md., last Friday to come here.

Q.—Where is this man Cornell now? A.—In Albany Penitentiary.

Q.—Has he a brother? A.—He has a stepbrother named Birch, but I don't know where he is.

Q.—When and where did you see Morey last? A.—In Philadelphia about the 7th of February. Mr. Bliss here read from witness' affidavit, in which he stated that the last time he saw Morey was in Boston, and that he then said he was going to New Orleans Bliss then demanded that witness give the name of the President of the workingmen's organization by whom he is employed. The witness declined, and answered that he was under oath not to reveal the name of his employers or any of their secrets. There are many secret organizations in the mines of Maryland. Howe, of counsel for defense, maintained that witness should not be compelled to answer. Judge Davis said: "Such oaths should not be allowed to stand in the way of justice. The question is a proper one. Read the question."

Q.—What is the name of the man who employs you? A.—Your Honor, I am under oath not to reveal his name, and I must decline to answer.

Judge Davis—You must answer the question.

Witness here demanded the privilege to consult Mr. Howe. Witness then said: "The man who employs me is W. H. Thompson. He is a lawyer in West Cumberland and lives on Baltimore street. He is a man about sixty years old."

Q.—When did you see him last? A.—Last Thursday. I told him I was coming on here, and also told him what I was coming for. He lives near the jail on West Baltimore street. I have lived for over twelve years with Mr. Thompson.

A ROMANTIC EMPLOYMENT.

Witness did not know how near the Courthouse is to the jail, nor remember the names of streets in the neighborhood of Thompson's. He received a salary of $25 a month, which he finds in a letter in a niche in the wall of Eckhard Mine, about a quarter of a mile from the entrance. Did not know the names of families with whom he slept the past month.

After recess Dr. Jonathan W. Goodell practicing physician in Lynn, Mass., fifteen years, testified that he is the only J. W. Goodell in Lynn. Did not write the "Goodell letter" did not administer to the estate of Henry L. Morey, nor was he the executor to him. In fact never heard of any such man.

SARAH'S BOW

Made For the First Time to an American Public.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, November 9.—All the newspapers give much space this morning to telling the story of the first appearance of Sarah Bernhardt before an American audience. The stories are mainly made up of equal parts of adulation and criticism, while the phrasing is suggestively alike. That Mme. Bernhardt is a great actress is conceded, yet nearly every writer introduces a passage that modifies very much this conclusion, which, notwithstanding, is forced upon one after reading in its entirety each review of the performance.

THE WORLD'S CRITIQUE.

A critic in the World says: "Comparing Mme. Bernhardt's performance of Adrienne with that of Mme. Janauschek, which is so recent, comparatively speaking, as to be within the possibility of recollection by very many persons, it is obvious Mlle. Bernhardt's complexion is that of an ingenue, not of a tragedienne. She nowhere and at no time dominated her scene, but sought to impress her audience by graceful movements, tender, playful action and beautiful modulations of the voice. In the animated scene in the dark between the two rivals, Bernhardt was often natural and effective, but whenever the situation demanded anything like intensity, she became declamatory without hesitation. Those who remember the energy of Janauschek will have no difficulty in recalling the intense interest which she created in her audience in this dark scene. So passionate was Janauschek in this scene that the voice of the Prince about to enter was felt as a relief.

"INGENUE" IS A GOOD WORD.

"Bernhardt produced no emotion whatever and the audience undoubtedly felt a thrill o disappointment. The fourth act was the most disappointing of all, and proved the incapacity of Mlle. Bernhardt to comprehend the queenly nature, the regal pride of Adrienne Lecouvreur. In that savage duel a l'outrance between princess and actress, Janauschek was more of a grand dame than the Grande Dame, more of a princess than the Princess. Mlle. Bernhardt played the scene like an ingenue of the meekest character who turns in desperation upon her superior rival, finding in her love for Maurice the courage to sustain such a contest. All her movements, her aparts with Michonnet, her exclamations of anguish were very much exaggerated, even for her own poor conception of the part. But when contrasted with the pride and scorn of Janauschek, that made her hide her pain, her acting became too painfully weak, too helplessly ingenue. We award her high praise for her declamation of lines from 'Phedre,' which are to crush the Princess. Sometimes she was too loud, sometimes too low, and in the concluding lines she was simply violent. Janauschek gave them with a hissing distinctness that made the flesh creep, and that made one think involuntarily of the skin crackling on the forehead under a red hot brand."

THE TRIBUNE TAKES A SHY AT HER.

The Tribune says: "There were about 4,000 people in the theater, and at the box offices receipts amounted to nearly $7,000. The total amount paid by the public on account of extra charges by speculators amounted to considerably over that. However, it was said that later in the evening speculators did not fare well, for the public became tired of encouraging extortion. Before the curtain rose good seats could be obtained for box office prices, and before it fell after the second act $3 seats could be bought for $2. "If I had known this I wouldn't have slept on a chair in that lobby all one night," said a disgusted broker.

A SUGGESTIVE SEARCH.

How the Government Archives were Overhauled Before the Election.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, November 9.—The world says it is proper that the American people should be aware that it is asserted on high authority that before the election was held Tuesday last, and while all the important members of the Cabinet were absent from Washington, the records of the various departments of the Executive Government were overhauled by official persons, who appeared in the several departments bearing the authority of the chiefs of these departments respectively. It cannot have been done without a purpose. Let it be remembered that the archives of the Government cover four previous Republican Administrations, as well as the administration of President Hayes, and that the accounts of the Nation have never been examined by experts or officials not affiliated with the party in power since the year 1860. When Congress meets, one of the first and most obvious duties of that body will be to ascertain whether any of the departments of the executive, and if so which departments, were visited during their absence not on official business of the heads of these departments by persons armed with authority from these heads to overhaul papers in archives. In investigating this subject Congress should direct its attention particularly to the Department of War, but it should by no means confine its attention to that department.

GEN. SHERIDAN REPORTS.

He Considers the Army Entirely Inadequate to the Frontier.

General Sheridan's annual report to the General of the Army sets forth that there are in the Department of Dakota 4,850 officers and men, in the Department of the Platte 2,840, in the department of the Missouri 4,720 and in the department of Texas 3,640.

THE FORCE INADEQUATE.

He wishes again to put himself on record as considering this force entirely inadequate to the great territory and numerous demands upon the army from Northern and Southern borders. The ratio is about one man to every seventy-five square miles, and in Texas one man to every 125 square miles. The fact is, the troops are frequently overworked, and often compelled to take the field against greatly superior numbers. The officers and men are equal in intelligence, activity and devotion to duty to any army in the world and no army of its size accomplishes one-third as much hard work from one year's end to another. He refers to the rapidity with which emigrants are taking up land in the Far West, and calls attention to the recommendation of Gen. Pope that permanent posts be established in lieu of the present costly and insufficient small posts.

He says the railroad companies are the strongest allies of the military in the West, and shows what wonders of enterprise are being accomplished by these vigorous corporations in the unsettled regions of the Territories.

The names of the lost are: Wm. O'Brien, captain; Alfred Jaliffe, mate; Sarah Callender, cook; Thomas and William Snell, Francis Owinn, Wm. Crosby, Robert Simons, sailors. The vessel was bound from Toledo for Kingston. The tug W. T. Robb is towing the wreck to this port.

CHICAGO, November 9.—A joint circular has been issued by the Burlington, Northwestern, St. Paul, and IllinoisCentral Railroad of Iowa, and Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern Railroad, to the following effect: That from date the basis of through rates from all eastern points to interior points in Iowa, Minnesota and Missouri shall be the tariff rates from Toledo, Chicago, Peoria and Beardstown. This seriously affects the pro-rating system.

Davitt's Departure.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, November 9.—Michael Davitt, the Irish Land League agitator, who sails for Ireland to-morrow, delivered a farewell address at Cooper Institute last evening. Mr. Davitt speaks in the highest terms of his reception by the American press and people and says that in the event of any uprising in Ireland he feels confident of support from this side.

To Be Hanged.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 9.—It has been decided by the President in the case of the Hirth murderers that Bedford and Quensn shall be hanged on Friday, 19th inst., and that the sentence of Sanly Pinn shall be commuted to imprisonment for life in the Albany Penitentiary.

MONTREAL, November 9.—Pedro Montez, the thief who robbed Henri Guimond, a Paris journalist, coming to this country on board the steamer City of Montreal, of $5,000, has been arrested in this city.

A Hopeful Man.

CHICAGO, November 9.—General J. B. Weaver, the late Presidential candidate, is in the city to-day and expresses his conviction that the Greenback is the coming party. He bases his belief on the gains made in nearly all the States over the last Presidential election.

Methodist Appropriations.

NEW YORK, November 9.—The Methodist Board of Missions to-day made the following appropriation: Blue Ridge Conference, $3,500; Central Tennessee, $4,000; Eastern Tennessee, $2,000; Georgia, $4,600; Holston, Eastern Tennessee, Conference, $3,500; Kentucky, $5,000; Lexington, Kentucky, Conference, including part of Ohio and Indiana, $3,000; Little Rock Conference, $2,500; Louisiana, $7,000, and Mississippi, $6,500.

THE GRAIN TRADE.

What New York is Doing With the Wheat Crop—A Good Showing.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, November 9.—The export grain trade from this port is steadily on the increase. New elevators have been built to facilitate the quick loading of vessels, and it is confidently expected that the ensuing months of November and December will be the largest shipping months of the year, and that the grand total of the year will exceed 125,000,000, being an increase of over twenty-five per cent from last year. Every vessel in port has been chartered to carry grain and none are waiting for engagements. Notwithstanding over 2,300 vessels have sailed from this port carrying grain, only nine have been reported as lost or missing, and one of these vessels was afterwards fallen in with at sea and a prize crew was put on board. The value of the missing ships is $1,000,000.

GOLD.

The gold imports should rise to $6,500,000 or $7,000,000 per week to put the New York loan market on the same footing as before the Presidential election in the matter of resources. The gold imports from August until week before last had averaged about $400,000 per week, and the market had received from the Treasury currency enough to pay for $2,500,000 bonds bought for the sinking fund. Bond purchases are practically discontinued. The Secretary feels at liberty to take only a class of bonds which are due on the 31st December next. Last week the Secretary of the Treasure was able to obtain, after extensive advertising of his wish to buy, only $50,000 of these bonds; yesterday none were offered and to-day the only purchase is a lot of $8,000, which came from Providence.

The Railroad War.

CHICAGO, November 9.—No change has taken place to-day in the railroad war on passenger rates. St. Louis tickets are still offered at $1 by all routes.

A Gotham Blaze.

NEW YORK, November 9.—The three upper stories of a five-story brick factory, 313 to 323 East Twenty-second street, burned. Loss, $50,000; distributed among a number of occupants, partially insured.

A FATAL FALL.

Frank Burke, a School Janitor, Instantly Killed.

Frank Burke, janitor of the Bates School, situated on Collins street between Bates and Cass avenue, met with an instant and horrible death this morning at 10:30 o'clock. He was cleaning windows in the third story of the building, when he lost his balance and fell to the brick pavement forty-five feet below. His body was horribly mangled. Death was immediate. Burke was fifty years of age, and has been janitor of the school for three years. He leaves a wife and four children at 1303 Collins street, where his body was taken.

Mr. A. Caldwell, principal of the school, called at the POST-DISPATCH office and gave the details of the sad affair as above. The rules governing the janitor, which were promulgated yesterday, require that all the windows in each school be cleaned once a month. Burke in pursuance of these instructions commenced upon the work this morning. He got out upon the broad ledge of a window on the third floor and closed the window down. Whether he was seized with vertigo or made a misstep will never be known, for when Mr. Caldwell passed through the yard shortly after he found the crushed and bleeding corpse cold in death.

A New Loan.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, November 9.—It is understood on good authority that Secretary Sherman, in his forthcoming annual report, will recommend the issuing of 4 and 3½ per cent bonds to replace the $773,000,000 of 5 and 6 per cent bonds which will mature in May and June, 1881. The new bonds will run thirty-three years and be issued solely for purposes of redemption. Secretary Sherman will also advocate issuing a $10 certificate in order to make the loan a popular one.

Melican Justice.

Charles Lawson, a colored man, was up before Judge Cady to-day for examination on a charge of petit larceny. The prosecuting witnesses were Hung Sing and Jas Sam, two Chinamen who run a laundry at 411 North Seventh street. Lawson is the colored bootblack at the Hotel Barnum, and according to the evidence he went to Hung Sing for his washing, which amounted to 20 cents. He gave Hung Sing a $1 bill and went into a back room to change his shirt. Hung Sing followed Lawson into the room and his opium-bemuddled brain made him see Lawson pocket some money. Hung Sing and Jas Sam swore clean through the category of Chinese oaths and threats and made instant death a thing to be desired in Lawson's eyes. He kept cool, however, and went out on the sidewalk, where Hung and Jas almost blew themselves away whistling for police. Officer Biehl came along shortly and Lawson went with him. When the Chinamen concluded their story, Lawson gave another view of the affair, and established his character. On the whole evidence Lawson was discharged, and the almond-eyed gentleman left the court greatly dissatisfied with Melican justice.

The Headlight

The City Marshalship.

It is stated to-day that City Marshal Mason will not present his resignation to the City Council until the meeting to be held on Friday evening, November 19. This will give the various candidates opportunity to canvass in their own behalf. Morgan Boland was on the streets this morning, and says that the statements made by interested parties that he is not a candidate for the appointment are wholly unwarranted and false. He is positively in the field and wants the place. When asked whether he intended to become a candidate for the nomination next spring he replied significantly, "that is further along."

New Buildings.

H. Morell is building a $4,000 two-story brick building on the north side of Hickory street, between Mississippi street and second Corondelet avenue.

Repairs to the amount of $300 are being made to the candle factory of Schaeffer Bros. & Powell, on the southwest corner of Barton and Kosciusko streets.

A handsome residence, to cost $20,000, is about to be constructed by Charles G. Stifel on the north side of St. Louis avenue, between Seventeenth and Solomon avenue.

A one-story brick building to be used as a hall by the West St. Louis Turners' Association is to be erected at a cost of $8,000, on the northeast corner of Beaumont and Morgan streets.

The George R. Taylor Sale.

The numerous apartments in the residence of the late George R. Taylor, at 1804 Lucas Place, were thronged to-day by people anxious to purchase the furniture and appointments which had been advertised to be sold at public auction by Albin Mellier, trustee for the heirs. The principal portion of those who wandered from room to room prior to the opening of the sale by Mr. Hewitt, of the firm of Block, Tyler & Co., auctioneers, were of the gentler sex. The crowd followed the auctioneer, and there was considerable competition in the bidding. The prices on the whole were more than fair, and surprised a great many dealers. The sale may not be concluded until late this afternoon.

Second District Police Court.

Business was extremely dull in the Second District Police Court to-day. The docket was only decorated with twelve cases, none of which were of an important character. Jas. Smith and Bridget Golden each were assessed $10 for disturbing the peace, and for the same offense William Smith and John Condy paid the court $5 apiece. Maria Howard and Hester Woods, prostitutes, while on the streets last night were arrested, and to-day were each compelled to pay Marshal Carr $10.

EXCITED OATS.

An Attempt to Corner This Cereal and How it Works.

The Shorts Lending a Hand Toward Putting Prices Higher.

For some time past the oat market has been climbing steadily upward in price, with a strong and even pressing demand developed, and so high has it now got that the market excites more than usual attention among speculative operators, and it is even reported that a "corner" is in prospect. Receipts, while fair, have hardly been equal to the demand that has prevailed, and the stock in store has been kept down to only moderate proportions, so that there is only about 125,000 bu No. 2 (the speculative grade) in stock, and most of this in the hands of the principal long. The November option, while not heavily oversold, is short enough to create a feeling of uneasiness among the parties who have sold, and some of them are exhibiting a strong yearning to cover. The majority of the shorts, however, seem to take matters coolly and evince no fear of being badly squeezed. The principal and really the only longs on the market are said to be Messrs R. S. McCormick & Co., and it is understood that they are holding the future contracts for other parties and are not themselves at all directly interested in the deal. Messrs. McCormick & Co. disclaim any intention of "cornering" the oat market and say if they did they would not start in so early in the month to do so, and it does look rather queer to attempt a squeeze before even the 15th of the month has arrived. But the idea of a "corner" appears to be fixed in a good many persons' minds, some of whom insist that if it is not a "corner" it is an attempt to frighten the shorts into settling.

To-day the market was strong, excited and advanced sharply, the speculative grade selling as high as 32½c for cash and November, which was near 2c higher than yesterday's best figure. The party who is said to be squeezing the market was buying, and helped greatly toward the advance, but shorts were also purchasing and shoving prices up, as the higher they can get the market just now the better it will be for them. What the shorts want now is to get prices so high in this market as to draw the oats here and away from other competing points, and then they will be enabled to have the grain to make their deliveries if they wish, or, if receipts are very heavy, to break the market down. The screws were put on with such vigor to-day that St. Louis sold about 2c above Chicago, and this market now is said to be relatively higher than any other market in the West.

The next few days will probably show whether there is a "corner" in the market, and how it is going. Dave Francis says: "Oats are a mighty pretty deal when you have them well in hand."

BELLEVILLE.

The case of Tremaine, for the killing of A. B. B. Vail in Tremaine's saloon, was continued till the next term of the Circuit Court.

Very little business of importance was transacted in the court this morning. The only cases called, with the exception of the murder case of Tremaine, were for damages of minor importance.

The Grand Jury found Wm. Truelock, the Mascoutah murderer, guilty of murder in the first degree, for which he was sentenced to fourteen years in the State Penitentiary.

Several applications have already been made for the position of City Marshal. The applications, however, are as yet to no purpose, Charles Born, the present Marshal, being merely suspended, not discharged. The City Council are to hold a special meeting, when it will be decided whether or not his services are to be dispensed with.

The usual monotony of the Circuit Court was interrupted about half past 12 to-day, when Messrs. Kerwin and Brockhouse undertook to settle a disputed point by an exhibition of their pugilistic abilities. Mr. Brockhouse is the Prosecuting Attorney, while Mr. Kerwin appeared as counsel for Tremaine. A dispute resulted from a statement which Kerwin claims Brockhouse made and afterwards denied. Brockhouse resented the accusation by slapping Kerwin on he cheek. Both clenched, and a general row would have resulted had not the Sheriff interfered and placed both lawyers under arrest. Judge Snyder fined each $25 for contempt of court, which was paid.

CITY PERSONALS.

Mr. Henry Jamison is publishing his magazine, the Western, with much success. It is one of the best literary periodicals in the West.

Mr. Sam. Erskine's genial countenance is again visible in the First District Police Court, the popular owner having resumed his duties of prosecution.

Frank Gaylord, "one of the Case heirs" who stumped Indiana for the Democracy, has returned to the city, but says he has been upon the Wabash fishing.

Capt. Harry Stiles is now in the city hard at work, and is doing well by himself. He is one of the most thorough-going fellows in the advertising business.

Mr. G. I. Jones, of the publishing house of G. I. Jones & Co., is very fond of going to the theater. He is one of the few persons in town who like Agnes Robertson's play of "Jesse Brown."

Capt. Johann is well pleased with his prospects for the marshalship appointment. His friends say that if the Council want a man who can get the office from the people next spring, Johann is the man.

ABOUT TOWN.

CAPT. HUECLER has a new volume of Macaulay's essays at the Third District Station awaiting an owner.

CITY REGISTER WALSH is to-day busy in sending out certificates of election to the successful candidates at the recent election.

A SADDLE supposed to have been stolen by Thomas Burke, an old-time thief, was left on Saturday at 907 North Sixth street, and is now at the Third District Police Station.

A CAR loaded with merchandise was broken into by thieves last evening, while it was standing on a side track on the Iron Mountain road, near the Taylor street depot, Carondelet. It is not known what amount of property the thieves secured.

JOSEPH HAMILTON, a man with no certain place of abode, while very drunk at 8 o'clock this morning, fell into the basement of the Lindell Hotel and sustained a painful cut an inch and a half long over the left eye. Dr. Clopton dressed the injury.

CARONDELET JOTTINGS.

Yesterday the three lots on the west side of Main street, between Stein and Skinner streets, were sold by Messrs. Hill and Hammel to the highest bidder. The lots have 25 feet front and sold for $40, $35 40 and $37 apiece. Mrs. Elise Greber bought the first one, Mr. Thomas Garvey the second and Mr. Neals Skov the last.

On 'Change.

Stocks of wheat at all the principal points show an increase over the preceding week and it is very probable that the visible supply, when next given, will show between 21,000,000 and 22,000,000 bushels of wheat in this country.

The granting of the petition presented to the Merchants' Exchange directory yesterday, whereby the present grades of No. 2 red and No. 3 red will be mixed in elevators on January 1, thus making the reduced grade of No. 2 red, has developed a sharp demand for No. 3 red and advanced its value. Most of the parties purchasing it are doing so for the purpose of mixing with the No. 2 red they now or will hold, thus probably making a profit out of the mixed and lowered grade. From this on there will probably be a steady increase in the stock of No. 3 red, as it will be held in store for the object given above. The question is asked by some, now, with a stock of No. 2 red that is three to four times larger than the No. 3, the proper mixture can be made. If an equal proportion of each is taken, will there still not be a large excess of the old grade of No. 2 in store on the first of January? and what will they do with it?

The "French representative for a great Russian firm" has struck Chicago, where, so a morning paper says, he bought heavily of wheat yesterday. Chicago is determined not to be beaten by St. Louis, and at great expense imported this Russian representative for this occasion only.

CATTLE—The bulk of the fair supply consisted of grass Texans, medium to good, which found prompt disposaal to the buyer of the St. Louis Beef Canning Company at steady prices. This concern is now slaughtering a large number of cattle, which keeps the supply down. Local speculators and Eastern shippers were looking around and had fair orders to fill in good butchers' stuff, which was scarce. Common and medium mixed native butchers' stuff dull and not wanted. Stock cattle in light supply and limited demand. A few 880 lb stockers brought $2 90 per 100 lbs. Shipping cattle in light supply and not wanted. One or two shippers are on hand, but do not care to enter the market. Milch cows with calves and springers scarce and wanted. Yesterday afternoon but few sales were made. Some good native steers were in and could not find sale. Quotations weak and tending lower.

State of Missouri, City of St. Louis, ss.
In the Circuit Court City of St. Louis, October Term, 1880.
Monday, October 4, 1880.
Katie Springer vs. Edgar S. Springer.

It appearing from the petition herein duly verified by affidavit that the defendant is a non-resident of the State of Missouri, therefore, on motion of plaintiff, by attorney, it is ordered that said defendant be notified that a civil action has been commenced against him, the object and general nature of which is to obtain a decree of divorce from the bonds of matrimony existing between plaintiff and defendant, on the ground that defendant absented himself without reasonable cause for the space of more than one whole year next preceding the filing of the petition herein.

And unless he appear at the term of this court to be begun and held at the city of St. Louis, within and for the city of St. Louis, on the first Monday of December next, and, on or before the third day thereof, answer the plaintiff's petition, the same will be taken against him as confessed.

And it is further ordered that a copy hereof be published according to law in the St. Louis POST-DISPATCH, a newspaper printed and published in the city of St. Louis.

A true copy from the record.

THE LEGAL MILL.

The Wakefield Sentence Affirmed by the Court of Appeals.

Other Decisions Delivered by the Court.

In the Court of Appeals to-day Judge Lewis rendered the opinion in the case of the State against Alonson B. Wakefield, appealed from the Criminal Court. Wakefield was charged with perjury in having sworn before the grand jury that he had never received any money from proprietors of gambling saloons in this city to pay to members of the Board of Police Commissioners as bribes. The Grand Jury found an indictment against Wakefield and he was convicted on trial, and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

The opinion of the Judge is a very lengthy one, and deals copiously in authorities. The counsel for defendant set up that as no bribery was proved, and no testimony taken regarding Wakefield's having paid the money to the Police Commissioners, the charge of perjury should fall. All the points were reviewed, and the decision of the lower court affirmed.

Court of Appeals Decisions.

John B. Briscoe, respondent, vs. Michael Kineally, appellant. By Bakewell. Appeal from the Circuit Court, which refused to admit evidence on motion to retax costs. Reversed and remanded.

Christian T. G. Meyer, et al., respondents, vs. Richard H. Spencer, appellant. By Hayden. Suit on note. Decision of lower court affirmed.

Brainard M. Million, appellant, vs. Wm. H. McRee, et al., respondents. By Hayden. Suit to set aside a sale of improved real estate, situated corner of Fourth and Almond streets, on the grounds, as alleged, of fraud and misconduct in various particulars on the part of trustee, in the deed of trust under which the sale was made. The Court decided that there was no evidence of collusion for fraudulent purposes between Fleming, the trustee, and the other defendants, and affirmed the decision of the lower court.

Bank of Commerce, appellant, vs. Lewis V. Bogy, respondent. By Bakewell. The plaintiff, a banking corporation of Maryland, alleged in the petition that the National Express and Transportation Company is a Virginia corporation whose capital is $5,000,000; that defendant subscribed to fifty shares of the stock of said express company at $100 per share, and that defendant refused to pay two calls of 5 per cent each made on shareholders. Decision of lower court affirmed.

In the matter of the arbitration between Francis M. Taylor, respondent, and E. C. Franklin, appellant, Judge Hayden set aside the judgment of affirmance and the case was reversed and dismissed.

$30,000 Damages.

Judge Adams is trying a case to-day wherein Leopold S. Ruffin asks damages to the amount of $30,000 from the St. Louis Bridge Company. In his petition Mr. Ruffin makes three charges against employes of the bridge company, for each one of which he asks $10,000. He alleges that in September, 1879, he was a passenger on the Chicago and Alton, and when the train was coming over the bridge he was assaulted by the conductor in the employ of the Bridge Company, and on arriving at the Main Street Depot was ejected from the train, where he was again assaulted by employes of the Company. He was also compelled to remain in the "dingy and smoky" depot for a long time before he was allowed to leave. All this was done, it appears, on account of Mr. Ruffin failing to produce the required twenty-five cents for transportation over the bridge. He says in the petition that he is of a by no means vigorous frame, and that, being unwell at the time, he was rendered worse, and prevented from attending to business. On the witness stand he testified that he was unwell at the time, but managed to do his business without interruption, notwithstanding his harsh treatment.

EAST ST. LOUIS.

At the meeting of the Council yesterday evening the only business transacted was the allowing of a few claims.

A colored man named Abe Johnson is putting up at police headquarters. The charge against him is trespassing. Officer Korzendorfer preferred it.

Several cases for delinquent licenses were up before 'Squire Noton to-day. License cases have become an interesting feature in the Justices' courts of late.

The City Clerk, James Shannon, issued about twenty-five licenses in one hour this morning. This is the largest rush for licenses during Mr. Shannon's term of office.

Thos. Lawler applied for a change of venue in his peace warrant case. 'Squire Noton granted it and sent the case to Justice Graney's, where it will be ventilated next Friday.

Edmund Fagerty had a little disagreement with one of his neighbors last night. Fagerty was the victor in the row that ensued, but was afterwards arrested by Patrick Kilkeary for disturbing the peace.

The report in Friday evening's edition that Patrick Kennedy stole a keg of beer from one of Joseph Schnaider's wagons was incorrect. It has since been ascertained that the beer was found, and not stolen, as was at first supposed.

Supervisor of the Poor Noton furnished Nick Schneikert with a railroad pass to Alton. Schneikert is a cigar maker by trade, but of late has suffered much from consumption, and is now in destitute circumstances. He is anxious to reach his relations in Jacksonville, Ill.

ADDITIONAL COMMERCE.

The Markets.

MORNING BOARD.

Flour firmer, or at least sellers were stiffer and buyers more inclined to pay steady asking rates, but there was no quotable change in values. We quote: Fancy $5 25@5 60; choice $4 95@5 15; family $4 70@4 85; xxx $4 25@4 50; xx $3 60@3 85; x $3 30@3 45; superfine $3 10@3 25; fine $2 65@2 85.

Wheat—Stimulated by encouraging home and foreign advances, as also by the urgent demand for cash, prices advanced and were strong. Grades were active, with buyers pressing and sellers firm. No. 2 red taken mainly by shorts at $1 02½@1 02¾c—late $1 03 bid; No 3 red by speculators at 97¼@98½; No. 4 for shipment at 93, and rejected at 85@88¼; No. 2 Mediteranean for milling at $1 01¼@1 01½ and No. 3 at 97½@97¾c. Futures were very stiff, with a slight decline early that was quickly recovered, after which prices advanced, though easing off a fraction at close. November sold at $1 02½, which year was also worth. December at $1 04½@1 05¾, closing at $1 05¾. January at $1 06¾@1 07¾, closing at $1 07¾. February at $1 09¾@1 10¾, closing at $1 10¾ asked.

Corn—Light receipts and soft weather combined have frightened the shorts, and, as the market is largely overs 1d, they are urgent in their desire to cover, the consequence being a stiff and higher market. Grade No. 2 mixed was in export and order demand and sold at 41@41¼, but offerings small; No. 2 white-mixed advanced to 42¼@42¾ and also scarce; rejected do salable at 40c; rejected, however, was weak and declined from 37 to 36½, with rather free sellers and offish buyers. Futures were again active and generally very stiff, May closing 9-16 better, while other options were 1@1¼ higher. November sold at 41½ to 41¾; December at 40¾ to 41¾@¾; year at 40¾ to 40¾—late 41¾ bid; January at 40¾ to 41¾; February at 41¾—at close 41¾ bid; May at 44¼@44¾ to 45¾.

Oats—Excited and higher, with the prospect of a "corner" and shorts aiding it, so as to bring the grain to market to overwhelm the squeezers. Grade No. 2, as the speculative grade, was eagerly sought for and sold at 32@32½, closing at 32½ bid for regular; No. 2 white was also salable at 32½, and rejected would have brought 30 if here. Futures "boomed" in sympathy with cash, besides which the principal long ran November up by bidding 32¾ for 150,000 and offering same amount at that rate, but later 32¾ was paid regular and 32¾ in settlement; December sold 1c higher at 31¾, while 31½ was bid for year, 32 for January, 36 for May.

Barley still dull, with buyers and sellers apart, so that sales were limited. Holders asking steady rates. We quote: Rejected, 45@55c; No. 3, 55@60; prime, 70@75; choice, 80@87½; fancy, 95c@ $1; Canada, 95@1 05.

Rye—Canada No. 2 was scarce, higher and in urgent request, with sales of car lots at 86½, but a round lot was salable at 87; rejected neglected.

Hay steady and in good demand, the chief inquiry coming for choice to fancy. We quote: Prairie, $9 50@10 75; mixed $12 50@13 50; prime timothy $13 50@14; choice do $15@15 50; fancy do $16@16 50.

Millfeed—Bran stronger, with sales at 69@70c at mill and 70c East track.

Provisions—Weak, but with a much freer movement, though this was entirely in dry salt. Pork sold at $14 in a small way. Lard salable at 8. Bacon shoulders scarce and wanted at 5½, but short clear lower at 8¾; clear ribs worth about 8¾. Sales of loose 10-day dry salt were made at 4¾ for shoulders, 7.20 for long clear, 7.30 for clear ribs, 7½ for short clear, and some 25@30-day short clear at 7 45@8; boxed sales of 16@20 day were at 7.35 for long clear, 7.45@7½ for clear ribs, 7.55@8 for short clear. Tallow 5¾@5¾c, according to quality. Breakfast bacon 10@11c. Grease, 3¾@4¾c for brown, 4¾@5c for yellow, 5¾@5¾c for white. Beef—Extra mess $12 per brl; prime mess $9 50 per brl; family $7 per half-brl; dried 9¾@10c per lb. Fresh smoked tongues $4 75@5 per doz. Salt $1 25@1 30 per brl for lake, and $1 15 for Ohio River; $1 20@1 25 per sack for G. A.
